Dear MoveApps user,

we are very happy to present you with the major changes that we have been working on over the last weeks. Now the App Browser and the public Workflows are organized by categories, making it easier to navigate them.

App browser improvements:

- Improved overview and search: we have added a description of each category and the search and filtering options are improved.
- Searching for Apps within a Workflow: we have added the option to include Apps that are not compatible with the IO type, making it easier to decide if a translator App is needed to include one of the incompatible Apps.

Public Workflows improvements:

- Improved overview: the public Workflows are now organized by categories which can be also used for filtering.
- More information: the details overview contains now the list of Apps included in each Workflow.
- Sharing Workflows: when creating a public Workflow you will have to select one or more existing categories, but you can also always request a new category.

We were able to implement all of these changes thanks to "The Boring Fund" that MoveApps was awarded with recently. We really hope that these changes make it easier to navigate MoveApps and facilitate finding the Apps and public Workflows that you need.

With kind regards,
Anne Scharf
